

Do you work near overhead powerlines or underground services?

Then you should attend the WorkCover Work Near Overhead Powerlines Code of Practice and the Work Near Underground Assets Guide Seminar

Contractors, supervisors, utility operators, excavators, suppliers, scaffolders!
You need to know about your OHS responsibilities under the new Code of Practice
Don't miss out on this important seminar!

The Construction and Utilities Industry Reference Groups, in conjunction with WorkCover NSW and Civil Contractors Federation (CCF), invite you to attend a breakfast seminar on Wednesday 29 August 2007 at Parramatta (dates for regional seminars overleaf) being held to introduce the code and guide.

The Code of Practice for Work Near Overhead Powerlines is effective from 29 September 2006. Based on risk management principles the code provides guidance on working near overhead powerlines including approach distances, operating cranes and mobile plant, tree & vegetation management, scaffolding and agricultural work.

The Work Near Underground Assets Guide, released in May 2007, provides guidance on planning, consultation, risk management, hazard identification, safe systems of work, accurate installation, an underground asset location checklist, typical footway allocations for utility services and depth of cover in road reserves.

The seminar is supported by CCF, MBA, LGSA, LGEA, Sydney Water, Integral Energy, Dept. Water & Energy, APESMA, Alinta/AGL, Construction Safety Alliance, NECA, Energy Australia, Country Energy, Telstra, RTA, RailCorp, CFMEU and the Master Plumbers.

Bookings for the seminar can be made by sending the completed response slip overleaf to the Civil Contractors Federation.

Seminar includes:

- WorkCover overview of the Work Near Overhead Powerlines Code of Practice & the Work Near Underground Assets Guide
- Question and answer session with expert panel
- Copies of the code and guide will be included in the Information Kit
